Product Change Notification

The Orion brand OA80AP-22-3TB has undergone a redesign and the new version now has 5 blades instead of 7, and a slightly different frame design. The mounting has not been changed. There are also small performance differences and the new version has UL Class B windings which is an improvement over the previous UL Class A rating.

This change was effective August 1, 2014.

The tooling for the old version is still available for production but will require minimum buys and extended lead time.

Thank you for using Orion Fans
